

Ranger Report

November 16-22, 2014

The bite started off good early in the week but dropped severely this weekend.

I am pretty confident it is going to come back up sharply as soon as the low front has done all it's going to do and gets out of here so that the barometric pressures will climb back up where we need them.

A new stocking of trout will be in next week which will get things more exciting as well.

Here is a pic of Johnny Bell and his 4.4lb rainbow trout caught last week!
